Tooth out - what's next?

RIDGE PRESERVATION STRATEGIES POST TOOTH EXTRACTION -

For Predictable Restorative & Implant Outcomes

Presented by Dr. John Giblin

BDS (1975), MDS (1980-Restorative), RACDS (1981), Diplomate ICOI (2002)

What to do when teeth fail?

Failure of restored teeth is becoming more prevalent within our patient population.

Knowing how to offer treatment plans and gain patient approval for selected options is becoming vital part of practice.

Patients trust their dentists and would rather be treated 'in house', than referred elsewhere; especially when their failing dentition needs urgent attention.

You will learn real world techniques that you can immediately take to your practice for atraumatic tooth removal and tissue regeneration. Participants will learn all about the instrumentation and materials necessary to achieve adequate tissue regeneration for either pontic site development or future sites for optimal implant placement.

This seminar aims to demonstrate dynamic methods which will maximise patient outcomes as well as a new dynamic, profitable treatment offering for your practice.

PRESENTER

Dr. John Giblin BDS (1975), MDS (1980-Restorative), RACDS (1981), Diplomate ICOI (2002)

Dr John Giblin graduated from Sydney University in 1975 and achieved a Masters degree in Restorative/

Prosthodontics in 1980, and a Fellowship of the Royal Australasian College of Dental Surgeons in 1981. Dr Giblin is a Diplomate of the International Congress of Oral Implantologists, a member of the Ambassadors' Circle for contributions to the ICOI, a member of the Academy of Osseointegration, the Australian Osseointegration Society, the American Academy of Implant Dentistry and is also a member of the International Academy of Gnathology and the Australian Society of Implant Dentistry; whilst maintaining a position of Society Editor for the journal of Implant Dentistry.

Dr Giblin has authored 22 articles and abstracts and presented over 120 invited lectures on occlusion, restorative, prosthodontic, tissue regeneration and dental implant topics. He regularly lectures both nationally and internationally on tissue maintenance and immediate implants. Dr Giblin has a special interest in the field of Oral Rehabilitation, which includes complex restorative and implant-supported prosthodontics. He has a dedicated Implant Centre and holds training clinics three times annually, since 2001. He elects to remain in general practice in Hornsby (Sydney), with an emphasis on complex oral rehabilitation which includes oral tissue reconstructive procedures.
